The Church at Work

The question of slavery

1. What should our work look like? It should be marked by two qualities.

   A.

   B.

2. We should work this way because:

   A. We are serving a heavenly master.

   B. This heavenly master knows the truth of our faithfulness at work and will reward accordingly.

3. Christian masters are called to Christlikeness in their treatment of slaves.

Questions to consider:

1. How does the Bible address the practice of slavery?
2. What are some ways in which American culture has historically been shaped by biblical principles and the Gospel?
3. What does it mean to do your job by obeying “with fear and trembling”?
4. In what ways can you more clearly show wholehearted sincerity at your job?
5. What is meant by “eye service” and “people pleasers” in verse 6?
6. What does “serving the Lord first” mean in terms of the obedience and sincerity we show at work, and the reward we receive?
